Agricultural Association. The Agricultural and Horticultural Society of British Columbia have published theil annual report, and we are gratified to learn that the affairs of the Society are in a very satisfactory condition indeed. From the Treasurer's report it appears that after the discharge of all claims against the Society arising from last year's operations, there still remains a balance in hand of $350 50, to be applied to the purposes of the Society the present year. The prize list for 1873 ac- A Warning to the Inhabitance of Vic companies the report, the total number of prises to be competed for amounting to nearly $900. This is a very respectable sum, and should stimulate active competition in the various, departments for which prizes are offered. There are several points in the report that are worthy of consideration, to which we desire briefly to allude. First, the suggestion to publish a complete list of the subscribers to the Society's funds is a good one, as it enables every contributor to see that his subscription is duly accounted for, and will have a tendency to stimulate others to give pecuniary aid to this important and very useful enterprise. Every business man, every mechanic, as well as every farmer, grazier, and horticulturist should feel that be has an interest in the success of this institution, calculated as it is to aid in the development of the resources of the country and to stimulate the various local industries which are struggling for an existence in our midst. Small though the prizes be compared with sary older associations of the kind in the Eastern Provinces, they will nevertheless exert a very beneficial influence upon the community by creating a spirit of emulation on the part of those engaged in the various pursuits coming within the sphere of the Society's operations. These are the days of small things with our farmers, graziers, fruit-growers, manufac-turers, etc., but under proper and judicious management we may reasonably expect to see this Society every year extending its influence and widening its sphere of usefulness until it becomes a power in the land for good. Secondly, the suggestion that a public dinner be given on the evening of the exhibition day, for the purpose of affording exhibitors and others an opportunity for an inter-change of ideas, touching matters properly pertaining to the objects of the Society, is one which must commend itself to every thoughtful mind. After the excitement and bustle always attendant upon such exhibitions, it is refreshing to sit down to a well prepared dinner, and satisfy the cravings of an appetite rendered more than usually keen by the competitions of the day. It also constitutes an excellent autidote to a mind more or less ruffled by disappointment, in not having gained prizes where success was deemed certain. But the intellectual exercises which succeed the festive indulgences, are what really constitute the more valuable features of what are termed agricultural dinners. Here gentlemen assemble from all parts of the country, and the utmost freedom of dis-cussion is allowed on all matters having a bearing upon the subjects of agriculture, horticulture, stock-raising, etc., and in this way information of a practical and valuable character is elicited, and an interest created in them which cannot but exert a most bene ficial influence upon the country. The method usually adopted in Ontario, for instance, is for the President of the Society to prepare an address, in which such subjects are treated upon as he may deem of sufficient importance to call for special comment, and after the address has been read it is then open for discussion, pro and con, and in that way ideas are interchanged and useful information gathered. We are glad to notice tha the committee recommend the discontinuance of the ball usually held on the evening of the exhibition day, as being "irrelevant to the objects the Society bas in view." We quite coincide in that opinion. Dancing is doubt-less a very exhilirating pastime, but the cultivation of the heels does not properly come within the scope of an agricultural society." within the scope of an agricultural society's operations. The Farmer's Club, which has been instituted, will prove a valuable adjunct to the Association, and cannot but result in much good to the interests of agriculture, if it receive that countenance and support from the farming community to which it is entitled. It will not only result in the acquisi-tion of much useful information on subjects of interest to farmers, but it will also have a tendency to cultivate a taste for reading, particularly on subjects relating to the pursuits in which they are engaged. We are living in an age of progress and inquiry, and it is just as important that the farmer should read, if he would keep pace with the progress of the times, as it is that the lawyer, the doctor, the clergyman, or the scientist should do so in order that they keep themselves posted on all matters pertaining to their respective callings. Agriculture is itself a science, and no man who neglects to devote a reasonable share of his time to reading and study can hope to achieve that measure of success in the prosecution of his calling that he otherwise would. We bespeak for the Agricultural Association a generous support from the citizens of Victoria, and heartily wish it

Coronation Day.

Saturday, Coronation Day, was marked in town as most other public bolidays are here, by the hoisting of bunting, closing of shops and places of business. The races at Beacon Hill brought out a large number to witness Bunster and Humphreys Detected by the Trial Stakes, $75, one mile, 140 lbs., the entries for which were Birdcatcher, Champague Charlie, and Fanny; the first named won. For the Queen's Plate of $150, mile beats, 130 lbs., Reynold's Black Hawk, and Howard's Reindeer entered; won by Rein-deer. The Hurdle Race, for a purse of $75, came next, and appeared to create a good deal of excitement among the spectators. away and Birdcatcher. As they left the enclosure for the starting post, the feeling was evenly divided with regard to the qualities and appearance of Black Hawk and Birdcatcher, and although Harkaway had regis-tered a very creditable record over hurdles before, it was evident that he was too lightin the company of his opponents. Getting away to a good start, the borses were watched running stronger than the rest of the field, and as they came into the straight the last named horse cleared the final hurdle in good style, passing the judge's box three lengths abead of Birdeatcher, who finished half a dozen lengths ahead of Harkaway. The second heat resulted in a close race between Black Hawk and Birdeatcher, the latter cutting down his opponent in the last quarter of

There were a dozen entries for the Scurry Stakes, which created more amusement and interest than any of the other events on the eard; af the fall of the flag the lot could be retired after occupying about half an hour's covered with a sheet, but as they appeared again near the three-quarter mile post it was evident that Champagne Charlie had the best of it, as nearing the judge he was two lengths the attendance might have been larger, scarcely more interest could have been evinced in the individual races. The other public event of the day was the excursion to William Head, and those who patronized " the Mechanics" were very much pleased with their trip, but we fear the funds of the Institute will not be materially augmented by the number of tickets disposed of. The Maude, in returning, passed into Esqui-malt harbor, rounded the vessels in port, and get back to Victoria in good time.

THE BAST COAST SHOOTING AFFAIR. - Police row week for Barkerville. Superintendent Sullivan has been committed for trial, which took place in Victoria yesterday. The result of the trial had not transpired up to the time our Victoria dispatches were forwarded. The case will, however, be pired up to the time our Victoria dispatches were forwarded. The case will, however, be theroughly sifted by a competent tribunal, and justice fully satisfied. While forbearing to make any remarks at present on this case, we must say that the persistent and vindictive hounding by the Victoria Colonist of a public officer simply because he is an ap-pointee of a Government to which the conductors of that journal are opposed; calls for and receives the strongest condemnation of every right-thinking person in Chriboo .-Sentinal, 21st June.

Mr. Humphreys followed in one of his tamest and most shallow efforts, utterly re-gardless of facts; so much so indeed that three of the most influential electors of Sanich told him, as well as Mr. Bunster, in the face of the meeting, that they, Bunster and Humphreys, had stated the reverse of what they had asserted twelve months betore, and which Mr. Bunster and Mr. Humphreys were compelled to publicly admit. Mr. DeCosmos came forward to refute some

On motion of W. W. THREE PACK TRAINS PROM MONTANA arrived here early in May, loaded with flour, bacon, beans, &c., induced by a letter that appeared in the Walla Walla Statesman, signed "Fixture," calling upon the packers to roll in their flour, bacon, beef, &c., that the dust was here waiting for them, and other abrications too numerous to mention, for the purpose of making a few dollars to row them over the ferry; but the Walla Walla packers would not bite, they knew their man of "old." The Montana packers swallowed the gudgeon and came rushing in with their grub; they did not, however, cross the ferry but kept on the east side of the Kootenay. "Fixture" did not make much by that lie. With the exception of bacon the camp was overstocked, and the poor deluded packers had to sell their cargoes for what they could get and went on their way rejoicing like cultas John a few years ago. The merchants did not thank Mr. "Fixture" for his yeracity. Flour is now selling at 9 cents; bacon, 25c.; beef, from 8 to 10 cents. Hu-urra for vera-
